About Me

My name is Ishika, I am 21 years old, and I am a student of Creative Media & Game Technologies (CMGT) at Rotterdam University of Applied Sciences. I am eager to learn, motivated, and interested in both front-end and back-end development. During my internship, I aim to further develop my programming skills, learn to work more professionally within a team, and gain more experience in building web applications. I am motivated to actively contribute to real projects and strengthen my knowledge through practical experience.
